Penicillin Soon Available Here

Penicillin, new war-developed drug, will be placed in drug stores to fill physicians' prescriptions around Apr. 1 leading drug manufacturers have advised the Lock Drug Co. in Redwood City, John Rosselli, pharmacist, said today. Until now available only in limited quantities, the drug was obtained for patients in this area through hospitals. Now, Rosselli continued, red tape has been slashed to make it more readily available. Penicillin is used to curb infections and Rosselli said physicians have found it more satisfactory than the sulpha drugs because it is less toxic to the patient and works faster. Because of mass production, he concluded, it will be probably cheaper for patients.

'Save the Butano' Unit at Capital

County Executive Frederick Peterson, County Recreation Director Mal Coombs and members of the County Recreation Commission were in Sacramento today in an effort to promote the purchase by the state of 3120 acres of virgin forest area in Butano Forest. Efforts have been made for several years to persuade the state to purchase the property and save it from loggers. Butano Forest lies between San Mateo County's Memorial Park on Pescadero Creek and Shrine Grove, which recently was purchased by the state for park purposes. It is approximately 25 miles from Redwood City. The property is owned by Wells Fargo Bank & Union Trust Co. and Stanford University.

Red Cross Leaders Meet

James W. Thornton, Jr., chairman of the Redwood City Chapter, American Red Cross, recently had an opportunity to discuss expanding Red Cross programs with National Chmn. Basil O'Connor (right) when the latter visited San Francisco. Thornton and Mrs. William Baxter, Mrs. Polk Dozson, Mrs. A. B. Swinerton and Raymond L. Spangler were among representatives of 36 Northern California chapters attending a luncheon at which O'Connor described extensive Red Cross programs now being carried on in the European Theater of Operations which he recently visited. Woodside Building Project To House 5000, Cost Millions Rapidly developing before the war, Redwood City will again enjoy a housing boom after the war. At least, that's what L. E. Werder and the Land Development Co., Inc., believe. The company is banking on that belief to the extent which it has spent $350,000 for a project into which an additional million will yet go, to provide roads, sewers and water for 1600 homes west of the city limits.

Soon to be incorporated into the city, the area covered was formerly the Carson and Monckton ranches and constituted 620 acres. Of the 620 acres, 470 gently sloping acres will be used for the 1639 homes and another 150 acres will be set aside for rural home plots varying from three to 22 acres in size.

The rest of the land will be the sites of two shopping districts. One of these will be complete in every detail while the other is planned for convenience shopping. The larger will have parking space for approximately 1000 automobiles.

Werder can't say now exactly what homes in the new area will cost. Price ranges have changed so much since the war began that soldiers will have a hard time trying to place present with past prices. What is aimed at, Werder continues, is the type of home which before the war sold for between $6750 and $15,000.

Rigid architectural regulations will govern all building, Werder said, and no lots will be sold for speculation. By these means, grass-grown empty lots between completed buildings will be prevented. Anybody planning to buy a lot will have to guarantee that he will build immediately before the sale will be made.

Land for the new site is near Woodside Rd., Vera Ave. and Roosevelt Ave. When it is annexed to the city, sewer lines will be laid and water, fire and police service provided.

Werder said that the new project, when completed, would add perhaps 5000 persons to the Redwood City population.

The project, he said, is probably the largest of its kind on the Peninsula. Smallest plots to be sold will have a 60-foot frontage. Others will be quite a bit larger. Regarding the architectural restrictions, Werder said that all houses in certain sections would follow specified patterns so that an early California home will not be next to an early Tudor place. All one story homes, for example, will be in one place, two story ones in another. As yet the project has not reached the stage where specific details can be given, but after roads are cut Werder believes it will be very pleasant to the eye to pass through the new district.

As plans now stand, the larger shopping district will be near, but not facing, Woodside Rd. The smaller one will be at the head of Roosevelt Ave.

All houses will have to be FHA approved.

Seek Additional Port Volunteers

Ensign Walter Carr, field inspector in charge of the U. S. Coast Guard's Volunteer Port Security Force on the Peninsula, today appealed for more volunteers for the watches from midnight through the daylight hours.

"We need 20 additional men for duty between the hours of midnight and 6 p.m.," Carr said.

Security force volunteers serve two six-hour watches weekly, and the coast guard supplies uniforms, ordnance, training and food.

Volunteers may apply at the Redwood City city hall to Mrs. Florence Donnelly, war council secretary, for information, Carr said.

Firemen Halt Blaze At Frank's Tannery

Redwood City firemen Monday extinguished a small fire at Frank's Tannery where workers accidentally ignited the wall of the rolling room while welding.

Damage from the blaze, which was reported at 2:37 p.m., was slight, firemen said.

Answering a call to the Southern Pacific parking lot Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock, firemen put out a small fire in the rear seat of a car owned by A. P. Guinasso, 142 Oakwood Blvd., Redwood City.

Tin Collection Here Mar. 24

City Salvage Chmn. Frank A. DePatta today appealed to Redwood City housewives to save and prepare tin cans for a curbstone pickup Mar. 24 and 25.

"Redwood City is lagging seriously in tin salvage," DePatta declared. "The Lions Club has agreed to sponsor the curbstone pickup this month, and we hope to fill two gondola cars."

Railroad Commission Fails To Confirm Bus Route Request

Less than two days after Jacob Herbst, 67, 102 Atherton Ave., was killed in a Middlefield Rd. collision involving a Pacific Greyhound Bus Lines bus, the California Railroad Commission in San Francisco today turned down a petition asked by Redwood City and Atherton for a rehearing on the commission's order allowing Pacific Greyhound to operate buses along that route.

Paul A. McCarthy, Redwood City attorney, and Winston Churchill Black, Atherton city attorney, took the stand June 19, 1944, when making the petition for a rehearing that the road was unsafe for large busses because of its high crown and because it was narrow. Speaking for both attorneys today, Mc-Carthy said that the fatal accident demonstrated their contention.

Following hearings last May and April the commission permitted Greyhound to operate through buses between Redwood City and Palo Alto to serve Dibble General Hospital. At the same time the commission granted permission to R. F. Martin, R.C. Bus Lines, to operate buses along the same road between the two cities. At the original hearing McCarthy and Black requested that the Greyhound route be along El Camino Real and Ravenswood Rd. to Dibble, but were turned down.

Upon hearing the commission's decision today, McCarthy said that the affair was closed. The two cities, he explained, can not request another rehearing. However, he continued, if further accidents involving Greyhound buses occur, Atherton will request in a new motion that the permission be revoked.

Atherton Police Chief John E. Farrell said that Herbst, who died in Palo Alto Hospital, was fatally injured on Middlefield Rd. at Fair Oaks.

The Need Is Great for Used Appliances

WHILE you're house cleaning or rummaging around in closets, basement or garage you may discover some idle, usable or easily repairable appliances. If you are not using them why not swap or sell them?

We have set up in our local offices a clearing house service for appliances. Here you can list the appliances you would like to sell or swap. Here also other customers list their needs for certain appliances. After this, buyer and seller deal with one another.

Use this free listing service and do a wartime "good deed" by helping some young or hard-working wartime family get appliances they desperately need but cannot buy elsewhere.

Patrons Feast While Firemen Halt Fox Shoppe Blaze

At least 30 persons stood in line at the front doorway awaiting their turns at dinner Sunday at 5:30 p.m. Waitresses busily went about their work within.

Ernest A. Fox, acting chef and owner of the Fox Shoppe, continued turning steaks on the stove. And Redwood City firemen arrived at the famed Peninsula eatery on 432 El Camino Real en masse. Quickly the firemen, headed by Chief Mark Ryan, went to work extinguishing a fire in the ceiling timbers near a flue.

The 30 potential customers stuck to their queue.

The waitresses maintained their service of food.

Fox smiled a greeting to the firemen and continued frying steaks.

A few moments later, when the flames had subsided and a thorough investigation of the rafters above the kitchen range revealed the holocaust was no more, firemen brought forth mopping-up equipment.

Fox extended a grateful thanks. The waitresses too smiled their thanks and left for the dining room, their arms laden with food-filled dishes.

A few patrons moved on in to tables; others came to take their places in the line.

Chief Ryan surveyed the damage which he estimated at $250 and explained that a few minutes' delay in fighting the blaze and the entire structure, including the new $5000 addition to the kitchen, would have gone up in smoke.

Former Redwood City Man Liberated From Philippines

Enjoying San Francisco's all-out welcome to liberated American soldiers from the Philippine prison camps today was a former Redwood City resident—Lt. Robert L. Pease, 24, brother of Mrs. Grace Wagner, 1019 Madison Ave.

Prior to joining the army in 1941, Lieutenant Pease lived for a year and a half with his sister in Redwood City. At that time his brother, Leonard Pease, who now lives in the Middle West, resided at 458 Third Ave. Another brother, Alfred P. Pease, lives at 3975 Pacific Blvd., San Mateo.

Lieutenant Pease, his sister said, received his basic training in New Mexico and was shipped to the Philippines in September of 1941. He was then a private.

Three months after the fall of Corregidor the family was notified that Pease was missing in action. In July of 1943 he was listed with 29 others as prisoners of war. On that same list was the name of Pvt. DeWolf Ross, son of Mrs. Nellie Ross, 640 Walnut St., San Carlos, whose name has not yet appeared on the list of liberated prisoners.

The much decorated lieutenant wears a Purple Heart and an Oak Leaf cluster, Mrs. Wagner said. He was then a private.

Rodent Population Menace to Health Here

There are today between 45,000 and 50,000 rats within the confines of Redwood City. Because of their night-life habits and the curfew, humans don't see them, but tests made by John W. Fickelsen, San Mateo County sanitary section chief inspector, have convinced him they're here in that number.

The normal rat population, he continued, is one per human being, or approximately 15,000 rats for Redwood City.

Rat populations, he says, go in cycles. When they reach a peak—such as now—they decline rapidly because of diseases resulting from overcrowded rat housing conditions and food shortages which cause rats to become cannibalistic. The danger there, he claims, is that diseases they suffer from are also carried to humans through fleas which inhabit the rats.

Right now, therefore, Redwood City is threatened with a bubonic plague outbreak, Fickelsen said. Also threatened are outbreaks of rabies, rat bite fever, typhus and trichinosis (hog disease), he added. All these, claims Dr. Karl Meyer of the University of California, are rat carried.

He has seen rats in Redwood City walk wires just as skillfully as tight-rope walkers and there is one incident where a rat bit a Redwood City youngster on the leg. The rat was discovered by the child crossing the youngster's bed. As the child swung, the rat became excited and bit.

In another case, a woman phoned the county department of public health to report a rat which late each afternoon danced on her lawn. Investigation proved that it came to eat graham cracker crumbs left each day from the child's outdoor crib.

The only practical way to control rat population, Fickelsen asserts, is through cutting their food supplies. And it must be an individual problem.

There are rats, he says, in every Redwood City block. It is economically impossible to hire enough men to attend to them. Each householder must do his own work.

Fickelsen believes strongly that rabbit and chicken raisers as well as victory gardeners have raised more rats than rabbits, chickens or vegetables. Rats are very fond of chicken and rabbit feed, and unless the ground is clean each night and every particle of feed stored in ratproof tins, the rats will prosper. Victory garden refuse is a prime source of feed for them, matched only by the north county hog ranches which Fickelsen flatly says are the biggest sources of rat growth in the entire county.

Proving the cunning of the rats, Fickelsen told how in one neighborhood they managed to unseat glass jars to get at victory garden produce. Usually rats feed on garbage can leavings. A housewife puts her garbage in the can, thinking she's done her duty. But everytime she allows the merest scrap of food to remain outside the can, she is feeding one rat for 24 hours.

Sewer systems, garbage collection systems and the policing done by large feed concerns all helps, according to the inspector, but the main problem is up to the individual home owner. They're his rats and they'll harm him. Furthermore, state law requires that owners kill rats where they can and prevent others from eating. This law also applies to food markets and restaurants. Often short-handed during war times, these business concerns have become careless, Fickelsen says, with the result that they all harbor rats. If the inspector had his way, garbage cans would no longer remain in alleys. They've been out in front where by keeping them neat and clean the merchant could advertise himself.

For rabbit and chicken raisers the inspector recommends these measures: Inspect pens to seal off all openings, crack up glass in a large quantity and bury it in ground along pen edges so that if the rat attempts to dig under a fence, he'll get out. If home owners still find they have rats after closing off all food supplies, they can kill them with red squill. Mix one ounce of squill with nine ounces of fresh ground meat, divide into small portions, wrap in tissue paper and place where rats are. Mix at the same 1-9 ratio with fresh ground meat after forming a thin paste of the squill and water. Mix squill at a 1-9 ratio with cereals and add a pint of sweet milk or water and stir to mush consistency. Using a pepper shaker, dust powdered red squill over thin slices of fresh fruit or vegetables; this requires one ounce of red squill per 48 small baits.

The thing to remember, Fickelsen concluded, is that rats can't be controlled with one mass push; that way a mob could kill maybe 150 rats. It must be a constant effort on the part of everybody. Only then can Redwood City decrease the threat of disease to itself.

Cpl. Goulson War Victim

Death in action on Iwo Jima of Marine Cpl. Douglas A. Goulson of Pescadero was reported today. The War Department has officially notified his parents, the Douglas Goulsons Sr., that their son was killed in one of the early assault waves when the Fifth Marine Division stormed Iwo Jima on Feb. 22 during one of the bloodiest battles of the war.

Enlisting in the Marine Paratroopers shortly after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Goulson spent more than two years in the South Pacific where he saw action at Bougainville and during other island invasions. During a furlough home, Corporal Goulson was married to Miss Virginia Shea of San Francisco on May 6, 1944. He was then assigned to an advance training base and once again sent overseas.

Paratrooper Goulson was born in Pescadero on Nov. 19, 1922. He was a member of one of Pescadero's earliest families. A graduate of Pescadero High School with the class of June, 1940, Goulson established a high scholastic record and was a member of the championship soccer squad.

Pair Files Suits In Superior Court

A Burlingame couple apparently tried to beat each other to the punch in filing divorce suits against the other, but the race was a draw, as both suits were filed in superior court here Monday.

One suit was filed by Alysce M. Morgan against Wilber W. Morgan, charging cruelty. The other suit, practically the same in content except for spelling of names, was filed by Wilbur W. Morgan against Alysce Mildred Morgan.

Both stated they were married in San Mateo July 4, 1936, but they differ in the date of separation.

Mrs. Morgan stated they separated Mar. 3 of this year. Morgan gives the separation date as Mar. 8.

Both Morgan and Mrs. Morgan ask custody of their three children, Ronald, 8, Raymond, 6, and Marchia, 4. Morgan now has custody of the children, Mrs. Morgan states, without her consent. Mrs. Morgan asks for community property and $150 a month support. She states her husband earns $300 a month.

The family home is 1612 Willow Ave., Burlingame.

Planning Commission Tables Church Request

A request of the First Church of Christ in Redwood City to erect a church at Hudson St. and Katherine Ave. was tabled by the Redwood City Planning Commission last night after church representatives failed to appear at the meeting.

Members of the commission said they understood the church congregation had abandoned plans to construct the church building at that site, and that another location was being sought.

R.C. Family Reports Loss Of 2nd Son

Death came to the second son of the Fred R. Priests of Redwood City only five days after their first son was killed in action on Guadalcanal, the Navy Department announced today in a telegram which stated: "An official declaration of the presumptive death as of Feb. 19, 1945, has been made by the Navy Department in the case of your son, Cpl. Elbert Raymond Priest, United States Marine Corps, who has been carried on the records of this office as missing in action since Oct. 15, 1942."

Both Elbert and George, 20-year-old radio gunner, enlisted in the Marine Corps on Jan. 5, 1942, took their "boot" training at San Diego and graduated from the Jacksonville, Fla., gunnery school prior to going overseas together in September, 1942. George was killed soon after the initial American landings on the South Pacific island, Elbert was reported missing five days later. Elbert's body has never been recovered.

In a personal letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Priest of 1006 King St., Lt. Gen. Vandegrift said, "It is a source of profound regret to me and to his comrades in the Marine Corps that your son, Elbert R. Priest, lost his life in action against the enemies of his country and I wish to express my deepest sympathy to you and members of your family in your great loss."

"There is little I can say to lessen your grief but it is my earnest hope that the knowledge of your son's splendid record in the service and the thought that he nobly gave his life in the performance of his duty, may in some measure comfort you in this sad hour," Vandegrift wrote.

Elbert, 23, graduated from Fremont High School in Oakland in June, 1941, and was employed by Hale's Department Store prior to entering the service. The posthumous award of the Purple Heart and the Distinguished Unit Badge was awarded to George recently by the Navy Department. The citation, accompanying the award was signed by the late Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

The brothers went overseas in the same squadron of the First Marine Division and were both promoted to corporals on the battlefield. It is believed that Elbert lost his life when his plane was shot down. A brother-in-law, 14, is a freshman at Sequoia High School. Mr. Priest is chief maintenance man at the National Motor Bearing Co. He states that the last time his family saw him was in July, 1942, shortly before the two brothers went overseas to subsequently lose their lives in the service of their country.

Sequoia To Honor Its War Victims

In living tribute to the former students who gave their lives in World War II, a large grove of redwoods will be planted at Sequoia High School in the near future, Supt. A. C. Argo announced today. To date, 40 former Sequoia students have died during this war according to latest information.

The memorial was recommended by the Sequoia Board of Commissioners and the Student Council. A plaque will be dedicated in the center of the grove and will honor each man who lost his life in the service of his country.

The campaign for funds is now being conducted throughout the school by the students in biology and public speaking classes as part of the Conservation Week program under the supervision of Mrs. Anna Bigler, head of the biology department. Any additional amount donated by the students will be assigned to the annual "Penny Pine" program for reforestation.

Richard McIntosh, head gardener at Sequoia, was instructed by Argo today to investigate possibilities of securing small trees and having them planted within the next few weeks. Two sites on the school grounds have been suggested; directly behind the main classroom building or to the northwest of the building. The number of redwoods to be planted has not been decided, but 30 trees is a conservative estimate, Argo said.

Sequoia commissioners include Stanley Baker, welfare; Ann Potter, girls' activities; Peggy Harrison, girls' activities; Peggy Harrison, girls' athletics; Bob Schultz, culture; George Jeffers, boys' activities; Paul Kent, boys' athletics; Ruth Dimick, publications; Eleanor Tompkins, publicity; Jackie Logan, finance.

Schools throughout California were collecting funds for Conservation Week with a special emphasis on the annual Penny Pine campaign to replant young pine trees, which have been logged over or burned. During last year's Conservation Week, students of San Mateo County schools contributed sufficient funds to reforest 70 acres of barren land. This is comparable to 35 square city blocks.

The drive last year netted $319.68 in San Mateo County. Some of the activities last season were the actual planting of pine trees at Thornton Beach by Sequoia students, plays depicting forest fire destruction and the resulting effect on soil, water and wildlife and assembly meeting and discussion. Similar projects are being undertaken this year.

With the 1945 campaign in Redwood City rapidly drawing to a close, Red Cross officials here were urging all citizens who haven't made their contributions already to aid in putting this year over its $50,000 goal. Some of the money contributed is used to aid the homeless during floods like the group shown above which was made homeless in the Cincinnati region after the Ohio River had gone on one of its worst rampages.

Redwood City Nearly Half Way In 1945 American Red Cross Drive

Redwood City Chapter, American Red Cross, today neared the halfway mark in its War Fund campaign for $50,000 for 1945-46 activities. Mrs. William Baxter, War Fund chairman, reported to her executive board Tuesday that $22,857.95 had been collected or pledged, compared to $9000 at this stage of the drive last year.

It was considered doubtful, however, that the chapter would be able to meet its quota by Mar. 15, the date originally set.

Mrs. Baxter reported that Redwood City had subscribed $13,901.34, and that the Menlo Park-Atherton branch had reported $7987.24. There was an additional amount of $1019.87 represented by pledges.

Meanwhile needs of the Red Cross for office space have reached a critical stage according to Chmn. James Thornton. Two rooms now allocated to the production department at Central School must be vacated for school purposes, he advised the board. He recommended renting a store building in the downtown area where all Red Cross departments could be housed, but was informed no such building is available.

Thornton also reported that Redwood City's blood donor quota, originally set at 50 pints per month, has been boosted to 400 pints. The executive board accepted the quota. The chairman announced that arrangements have been completed to move the blood donor center from the Methodist Church to the Baptist Church next month. The board extended a vote of thanks to the Methodist Church for its generosity.

Willow Rd. School Seeks WPB Aid

Plans for an additional unit for the Willow Road School are ready to be presented to the War Production Board and state and county boards for approval, Arthur W. Janssen told the Ravenswood School Board meeting last night. It was explained that if the addition is permitted, it will be built next Summer.

Hans J. Jacobsen also presented a master plan for landscaping the school site which met the general approval of the 25 people who attended the meeting.

Construction of the bicycle shed was further discussed and a final decision was promised after bids are received on the new unit.

Representing the recreational committee of the Civic Service League, Col. J. L. Connolly asked that the tennis courts be resurfaced and equipped for basketball. The board indicated it would take action as soon as possible.

Buildings for the use of the school grounds for recreation were discussed and the school board and the recreation committee will meet next Monday for further discussion. It was announced at the meeting that John Lemon will take over police patrol of the district from Joe Brown, and that the school election will be May 18. The last day for filing will be Apr. 18.

Youths Confess Automobile Theft

Two 'teen-age San Jose youths have admitted stealing an automobile in San Jose Monday and wrecking it north of South San Francisco.

California Highway Patrolmen found the 1940 coupe wrecked on Bayshore Hwy. two miles north of South San Francisco, shortly after 2 a.m. The car, which had rammed a guard rail, was found to have been stolen in San Jose at 8 o'clock last night.

Patrolman Roy Edwards at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday saw two hitchhikers on Bayshore Hwy. north of Redwood City and noticing that one of them had a cut on his forehead, he stopped and questioned them. The two, Rudolph Cruz, 18, and a 16-year-old companion, both of San Jose, admitted stealing the car. Both were turned over to San Jose authorities.

WIDOW GETS ESTATE

Value of the estate of Arthur Anderson, who died Mar. 8, exceeds $10,000, his widow, Mrs. Lillie Anderson, stated in a petition for letters of administration filed in superior court here today. The estate consists of real and personal property in San Mateo County and in New Mexico.

Councilmen Deny Charges In Heated S.C. Building Issue

New flames flared today in the San Carlos "spot zoning" and duplex controversy, fanned by charges made before a large Progressive League dinner Saturday night at city hall.

Councilman Patrick J. Kearns, addressing the dinner which honored Bruce M. Allen, candidate for councilman, said that Mayor A. H. Sagehorn, during a stormy council meeting Thursday night, had failed to deny that he and two other councilmen had, at a previous session, discussed with Contractor Arvil Larsen a proposal by the latter to construct duplexes in Hidden Valley.

"The mayor also failed to deny," Kearns said, "that these duplexes were to be built on lots over the tax redemption of which I had raised a strong opposition last year."

Councilman Truman S. Waterman, planning commission member, whose name appeared on a statement released by the commission with respect to the zoning controversy, declared today that he not only had not seen or signed the statement but that he had asked that his name was not to be appended to the statement unless it was first submitted for his approval.

Kearns and Waterman counter-attacked against a charge by Mayor Sagehorn at the council meeting Thursday night concerning council approval of construction of 50 duplexes.

Sagehorn attacked a recent bulletin which stated that 50 tax delinquent lots had been sold at a "ridiculous figure."

Memorial Plans Win Support

Directors of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce Monday night commended students of Sequoia High School for their plan to plant a memorial grove of redwoods for Sequoia graduates killed in action in World War II. A letter of commendation will be directed to Supt. A. C. Argo.

The directors also endorsed the San Mateo County Historical Assn.'s campaign to induce the state to purchase the 3100 acre Btano forest.

E. W. Butler, manager, reported that to date the 1945 membership roll stands at 234. The directors adopted a budget calling for expenditure of $7990 for the year, an increase of $628 over 1944.

Teddy Lauman, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announced that his design for a chamber of commerce building has met widespread approval, and said he expected to be able to make an announcement about the proposed site in another 30 days.

Kaufmann Leaves Large Estate

Joel W. Kaufmann of Atherton, whose father was one of the founders of the Emporium in San Francisco, left $25,000 in trust to his chauffeur, Samuel Braunstein, his will filed for probate in superior court here Tuesday shows.

Mr. Kaufmann, who was vice president and treasurer of the Emporium when he died Feb. 28, left the bulk of his estate, value of which is believed to approximate half a million dollars, to his widow, Mildred E. Kaufmann, 167 Isabella Ave., Atherton.

Mr. Kaufmann specified in his will that his chauffeur be paid $100 a month from the trust fund. He left his jewelry to a son, William J. Kaufmann, of San Francisco. He left one half of the residue of the estate to his wife and the other he left to her in trust.

News of Commuters

BY JOE CABOOSE

It may be news-worthy to report that Commuter Club directors, at their last meeting (Sec'y W. J. McKeehan's home) went on record as favoring "some form of compulsory state health insurance." Two directors specifically favored Governor Warren's bill. Others were not sure what form the final bill should take, but all, to a man, agreed we should have "some form of compulsory" legislation. This was significant, inasmuch as the average commuter is a pretty solid type of conservative business man.

Discussion followed the reading of a letter to President Perkins from the San Mateo County Medical Society and the California State Medical Society inviting "the members of your organization to join with us in a meeting to discuss present bills concerning health insurance, now before the legislature." The letter came too late to get a representation of commuters at the meeting (held Feb. 21), but not too late to get the board of directors on record concerning their feelings in the matter. Their decision was prompt, emphatic and unanimous.

With the feeling that this issue is "perhaps the most important to confront the people since California was admitted to statehood," the directors agreed to devote their entire April membership meeting to its discussion. Joe ("Speaker's Bureau") McClellan was instructed to provide two competent speakers, pro and con, following whose talks the meeting would become an open forum for questions from the members.

It's Caboose's own personal opinion that "some form of compulsory health insurance" is not only desirable but inevitable. We think it is long overdue; that the so-called white-collar man (we don't like middle-class designation in a democracy) has had to pay more than his share in maintaining the nation's health; that many have been denied adequate medical care because they either could not or would not shoulder the burden of arbitrary "tariffs" charged; and that, finally, the medical profession as such is very short-sighted in opposing, rather than co-operating with, what is so obviously inevitable.

The intelligent way is to co-operate with the inevitable. By co-operating with the inevitable and help mould a product that will serve and not destroy you, that will prove workable and beneficial to all concerned. What will it profit the medicos if they muster enough strength to kill the measure at this legislature? Don't they realize that anything so socially essential and advanced as state health insurance is a "natural" in this enlightened era and must eventually become law? They should take a cue from the popular song—accentuate the positive and eliminate the negative. The fight against this measure reminds us of the forces in San Francisco (and we don't wish to embarrass any of our good friends) who tried to prevent the building of the bay bridges. How stupid!

Woman Asks Aid To Locate Brother

Miss Lillian Rummel today requested the sheriff's office here to aid her in locating her brother, Fred W. Rummel, whom she has not seen for a long period of time. Miss Rummel said her brother, who was born in South San Francisco, does not have a left foot and walks with a cane and crutch. She gave no other description. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Rummel can contact Miss Rummel by writing in care of Mrs. D. F. Murphy, 427 20th Ave., San Francisco (21).

Rural deaths in 1943 decreased 23 per cent as compared with 1942.

try to block the path of progress, to halt man's divine groping upwards . . . toward the stars! You might as well try to dam the rush of Niagara with a wagon-load of mud. Everyone remembers the fight the big insurance companies put up against Social Security, claiming it would wreck our national economy and ruin their business. Today these same insurance companies are writing more business than ever before in their history, and they are now clamoring for an extension of the benefits of Social Security.

Social Security made the public insurance conscious. It didn't provide enough protection for most people so everybody and his brother bought more—from the private insurance companies. Who knows, maybe health insurance will work the same way? At any rate, it's coming, as sure as death and taxes, and the doctors will be very foolish if they don't climb on the band wagon instead of trying to wreck it.

The meeting at McKeehan's house had everything—humor, drama and pathos, with a heap of mighty good eatin' food thrown in. President Perkins and Wrex Cruse disagreed over the membership of the club's Boy Scout committee (of which Cruse is chairman). Perkins insisted Bill Curran, Jack Welch and Joe Caboose were members in good standing. Cruse countered by saying the aforementioned were "defunct." Which made Curran, Caboose and Welch very sore because they weren't sure what "defunct" meant. Welch looked it up and found it meant "dead, extinct." And Wrex poured oil on the flame of Jack's wrath by saying, "That's right; now you know what I mean." Curran quickly changed the subject by telling his famous "Rolsin" story for the third time. Incidentally, someone ought to tell the scout county council at San Mateo that we three are defunct. Caboose received a letter as late as last Saturday inviting him to a meeting. It was signed by C. C. Armstrong. (Wouldn't it be awful if Chester were defunct too! And didn't know it!)

Ray Spangler did such a swell job of covering Thursday's joint Kiwanis-Commuter dinner meeting in Friday's Tribune that we have little left to report. Commuters' nominating committee, composed of Bill Dobbins, chairman, Bert Conroy, Charles Goodman, Larry O'Leary and George Raubinger, reported their slate for next year's officers and new directors, as follows: President, Clarence Bridge; vice president, W. J. McKeehan; secretary, Ed DeBow; treasurer, Al Armitage; directors, Art England, Ed Horgan, Bradley Martin, Miles McDonald, Stanley Perkins and Bill Silverthorne. It was a fine report and was approved without dissenting vote.

The meeting ran off as smoothly as a Chaucer poem. The C's outnumbered the K's almost 2 to 1, but the latter were plenty articulate through their cheer leaders, Ferris Miles, Fred Schmidt and a Borden's cowboy whose name we didn't catch. The latter was an ambitious fellow who raised $75 for the Red Cross. Schmidt, a recently-decorated hero of the battle of Port Redwood, made the best talk of the evening. It was only three words long.

Being the father of two boys and two girls, Caboose was surprised when Delmar Branch, field man for YMCA, referred to L. Louis Means' family in his introduction, as "the perfect family—a boy and a girl." We are wondering if that is YMCA's concept of "the perfect family" or if it was merely a personal opinion. If two children represent the "perfect family" then we have the pluri-perfect family, and we sometimes dream of the future-perfect family. If Branch's standard of what constitutes the "perfect family" were generally accepted, the YMCA would have to go out of business in a few generations; and in two or three centuries the entire human race would be "defunct."

Forgotten Favorites

These days, when meals aren't everything they used to be, a little ingenuity in the kitchen goes a long way. For new variety in meals . . . we suggest these old-time favorites. You know, sometimes there's nothing as new as an old forgotten recipe.

HOMEMADE NOODLES

1½ cups all-purpose flour
1 egg
1 tsp. baking powder
Sift flour, measure; sift again with baking powder and salt. Beat egg slightly in bowl. Alternately add flour mixture and water, working in all flour. Place on lightly floured board and knead one minute. Roll dough paper-thin, roll up as for jelly-roll; cut in ¼-inch widths. Unroll and shake out, separating well. Drop into rapidly boiling liquid; cook uncovered 20 minutes until tender, keeping liquid at a rolling boil during entire cooking period. Serves 6. Note: The noodle roll may be wrapped and stored unslit in refrigerator.

Note: To carry out a St. Patrick's Day color scheme, 1 cup finely cut parsley may be added to flour.

BREAD PUDDING

3 cups milk
3 cups soft bread crumbs
3 eggs
¾ cup sugar
¼ tsp. nutmeg
1½ tps. grated lemon rind
¼ tsp. lemon extract
Pour milk over bread in large bowl and let stand about 20 minutes, or until bread is well soaked. Add egg yolks, ½ cup of the sugar, nutmeg, and lemon rind. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly combined. Pour into well greased 1½ quart baking dish or individual custard cups. Bake in pan of hot water in slow oven (325° F.) 1 hour and 20 minutes if in baking dish, or if in individual custard cups, bake one hour, or until almost firm to the touch. Remove from oven and the pan of hot water. Top with meringue made by beating egg whites until just stiff; add remaining ¼ cup sugar, gradually, beating well after each addition; continue beating until mixture holds peak; add flavoring. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 15 minutes, or until meringue is brown. Chill. Serve with spoonfuls of jam or jelly. Serves 6.

J-M Smokestack By Jim Asbestos

I want a job where I can help the war effort now and where I'll be apt to stick when peace comes.

Well, I can't promise—but that sounds like J-M to me.

People Needed—War or No War

Johns-Manville needs more workers now. And it looks as if we'll keep on needing 'em for a long time to come.

That's fine for the future. Not so good now. Because our help shortage now means we are NOT producing as much for the war as we could if we had more folks on the job.

In most J-M plants over the country, there is a severe shortage of workers. We have 2,000 less than we need now, and 2,000 less than we think we'll need after the war.

Yes, We're a War Industry, But—

Some people don't realize we're a war industry. The fact is, nearly everything we make goes to war or to plants which make things that go to war. Yes, you can help the war by working at J-M.

But what about a job at J-M AFTER THE WAR?

Well figure it out for yourself. What promises to be one of the biggest post-war businesses in the U. S.? The answer is: building. And J-M's middle name is building materials. Equally important is J-M's line of industrial insulations, friction materials, packings and many other products serving every type of industry.

If things go as everybody expects, J-M should be busy as a bee after the war. And we won't have to shut down to change machinery. The same machinery we use for war production will be used for peace production.

Nobody can promise anything these days, but it looks from here as if a J-M job was about as sure-fire and steady a future as a feller could find—and a plenty patriotic job right now.
